Windows Live Writer With License Key

Author: Richard Kerf, Matthew T Smith, Windows Live Developer - Tools Windows Live Writer is now included with Windows Live Essentials. Windows Live Writer is a free application that allows you to easily create new Web site posts, similar to a word processor, with a variety of formatting options available. You can write your articles with your favorite word processing application and then publish them as an official, branded Web site article at a click of a button. Using HTML, you can specify how you want your Web site content to be displayed to readers, including text styles, images, animations, dropdown menus, video, audio, streaming videos and more. You can also use “rich editing” and “placeholder” technology to allow your visitors to modify your content before publishing. You can also use custom HTML and CSS to style your articles however you like, using an advanced theme editor. You can choose from a variety of custom page layouts that include an article page, posts and categories page, and more. For added flexibility, you can install third-party plug-ins from the Windows Live! Marketplace. These plug-ins enable you to take advantage of other Web site types (or types of content), such as galleries, polls and chat, and give you access to other Web site publishing tools, such as AJAX APIs and other Microsoft Web technologies. Windows Live Writer provides a built-in feed aggregator and publishing engine that enables you to publish blog posts to a number of popular Web sites, including Blogger, Facebook, Live Spaces, TypePad, Twitter and Windows Live Spaces. In addition, Windows Live Writer supports Google Blogger, Live Spaces, and TypePad. Windows Live Writer allows your site visitors to comment on all the blog posts you publish via your own admin account or as an external guest account. With Windows Live Writer, you can create and edit your HTML and CSS code to create the appearance of an online word processor. The Web site features can be easily customized in a way that allows you to create a unique blog that is your own. Read more on Wikipedia And, Windows Live Writer comes with a powerful and useful HTML editor that allows you to create, format and edit your HTML and CSS documents. You can easily format text, graphics, tables, and links to build the appearance and functionality of your blog in a clean and simple way. You can also use advanced HTML inbuilt dropdown menus that can be used to create rich, interactive Web sites

What's New In?

Windows Live Writer is a powerful application designed to enable you control your blog and publish new posts straight from your desktop, providing all the necessary tools to successfully replace the web-based platform. Since it's designed by Microsoft, it's no surprise that Windows Live Writer looks pretty good, since it's based on the now popular ribbon interface. Thanks to this, you can easily format text, photos, videos and the whole content you wish to publish on your blog, but the application has many more goodies beside these. First of all, the program comes with native support for WordPress blogs, but it's also compatible with SharePoint, Windows Live Spaces, Blogger, TypePad and others. The configuration process is very intuitive because it only asks you for blog address, username and passwords. Besides the fact that it provides excellent control over the text, photos, videos and links you wish to publish, Windows Live Writer comes with dedicated tools to show you a preview of the upcoming blog post, but also with a source tab for more advanced users. The comprehensive settings menu has all the options you need regarding editing, accounts, spelling, automatic linking, plugins, web proxy, ping servers and Trust Center. Of course, you don't need a super computer to run Windows Live Writer, but older systems may need more time to load the application, while publishing certain file formats may slow down the computers. Overall however, Windows Live Writer is one of the best blogging tools on the market. It's accessible, easy to use and addresses all user categories.
