?quiz? is a great desktop trivia game that will have you and your friends learning on the go. But instead of just spitting out random answers, it will give you the full story behind the science behind the quiz. Who are the game designers? We're a team of three who love playing around with new technology on the weekends. Our background: Jakub is a PhD student in Biology who likes to learn about the really weird things in our universe (so he is our science guy). I am a computer geek working at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. I really enjoy all things technology, especially video games and movies. My hobbies: I also really enjoy running and listening to lots of music. I took a bit of a hiatus from this project over the summer and it is good to be back. Thank you so much for all your support and feedback, as well as the great ratings/comments so far. I really love all the features that you have implemented, but I especially like the quiz types. Can I contact you if I found an error? Of course! Just send me an email at komuridotaku@gmail.com. Hello Jakub, I'll start with that name you gave this game - it's nice! The Quiz types are great, I especially like the Multiple-choice where you can define what options people should choose. It is also great when you are playing the game and you only get an answer in another location, I mean - the game is not slow at all! One problem I have is that the game doesn't tell me when the level is finished until it's too late - I mean - a friend told me the answers and I didn't know what it was that he had told me. Another problem is that when I started it, the game was waiting for input for a long time (I don't know how long - minutes) and that was frustrating. If I were a programmer, I'd check out the game to see what parts it's made from. Thanks a lot! This is the first time I sent you anything, so thanks a lot for this! The Quiz types are great, I especially like the Multiple-choice where you can define what options people should choose. It is also great when you are playing the game and you only get an answer in another location, I mean
